If the Customer fails to do this then it shall be liable for any financial loss which this causes the Supplier. 2.3 Nothing in this Contract shall exclude or limit any statutory rights of the Customer which may not be excluded or limited due to the Customer acting as a Consumer. In such circumstances, the Customer has legal rights in relation to Goods and Digital Content that are, for example, faulty or not as described and in relation to Services that are, for example, not carried out with reasonable skill and care, or if the materials used to carry out the Services are faulty or not as described. 3.2 Advice about Customers' legal rights where they deal as a Consumer is available from their local Citizens' Advice Bureau or Trading Standards office.

Ownership of any Sale Goods remains with the Supplier until all monies payable to the Supplier by the Customer for the Sale Goods have been paid in full. 5.4 Until ownership in the Sale Goods passes to the Customer, the Customer shall 5.4.1 hold the Sale Goods on a fiduciary basis as the Supplier's bailee; 5.4.2 maintain the Sale Goods in satisfactory condition; and 5.4.3 keep the Sale Goods insured against all risks for their full price from the time they leave the physical possession or control of the Supplier. 5.5 The Customer must not deal with the ownership or any interest in the Hire Goods. However the Customer may rehire the Hire Goods to a third party with the prior written consent of the Supplier. 5.6 The Supplier may provide reasonably priced insurance in respect of the Hire Goods at an additional cost to the Rental. Alternatively the Supplier may require the Customer to insure the Hire Goods for such reasonable risks as the Supplier may specify and any proceeds of any such insurance shall be paid to the Supplier on demand.

The Customer shall remain responsible and liable for any loss, damage or theft to the Hire Goods until the Hire Goods are collected by the Supplier unless the Supplier fails to collect the Hire Goods within 5 working days of the Customer notifying the Supplier that the Hire Goods are ready for collection whereupon the Supplier shall be liable for any loss, damage or theft thereafter. 6.3 Where the Supplier provides Services the persons performing the Services are servants of the Customer and once the Customer instructs such person they are under the direction and control of the Customer. If the Supplier is affected by any such event then time for performance shall be extended for a period equal to the period that such event or events delayed such performance. 14.8 All third party rights are excluded and no third parties shall have any rights to enforce the Contract by virtue Damp proofing advice and recommended DPC products including Vertical DPC and the injection technique using cream DPC. Dont want to do this job yourself. The information you need may be in the project below, if not, call them. A damp proof course DPC is a physical barrier inserted into the fabric of a building to stop water passing from one place to another.

This can be on a horizontal plane, stopping water rising up from the ground by being sucked up by the dry masonry above, or vertically to stop water passing from the outside of a building, though the masonry, to the inside. DPC's have taken many forms through the ages and one of the earliest forms was to use a layer of slate in the construction. Slate is still used but the less expensive plastic version is now more widely used. Damp Proof Course indicating dpc and ground level Damp Proof Course Damp Proof Course indicating 6 inches from damp proof course to ground level A horizontal DPC is usually placed 6 inches above ground level and used in conjunction with a damp proof membrane which stops water rising to any part of the ground floor from the ground. A diagram of a typical ground floor construction can be seen below and you can see how a Damp Proof Course works in conjunction with the membrane to stop any water rising up into the building above. Damp Proof Course Cross Section indicating ground floor slab and inner and outer cavity wall dpc's In many older properties a non porous stone was used to build the first few courses of masonry but over the years this stone in many instances has become porous allowing water to be soaked up through it. It is not practical in most cases, to remove a course of stone to place a plastic, lead or slate DPC in the wall and new methods have been found of introducing a DPC where there is either none, or one that is broken in some way. These methods generally require the injection of chemicals into the walls and, on a larger scale, are better done by specialists as there are many complications which can arise as a result of saturated plaster and the measurement of the chemical being injected. Your only option then, as a private property owner, was to pay for a Damp Proofing Company to carry out the work, including the inevitable expensive replastering.

Now you can even obtain your own Product Guarantee Certificate after injecting your own damp proof course. The new generation of UltraCure DPC Creams have appeared and for the first time private individuals and developers, builders and DIY enthusiasts can reliably and cheaply inject their own chemical DPC. The BBA is a Government Approved organisation which has been testing building materials for over 30 years. A copy of our BBA certificate is included with our cream kits. Drill 12mm diameter holes at 115mm intervals in the mortar course or via the brickwork, angled down to meet the mortar course selected to be at least 150mm above outside or abutting ground level Fit the extension nozzle to the cartridge tube and load into the skeleton gun Inject cream from the bottom of the hole outwards until the hole is full. Holes can be capped with mortar or fitted with a plastic plug Plastic tapered plugs for filling drill holes Walls and Skirting Board Don't forget to check the walls and skirting boards for dampness. If you click on the damp meter images above you will be taken to a section of the Property Repair Systems site where you will find detailed information on how our Damp Meters work and you will also be able to purchase and view our extensive range of meters for a great many jobs. Replaster to a minimum of 1.2 metres internally, to our specification, using sand and cement and Rendapruf integral waterproofer. Replastering Concentrated Additive for Renders Replastering is an essential job after inserting a chemical damp proof course. For more information on how to do this correctly see our replastering project for detailed information. Air Gap Membrane is simply fixed with plastic plugs What Depth Should Chemical Damp Proof be Injected. The depth that the chemical damp proof should be injected is dependent on the thickness of the wall.

Use these suggested injection depths as a guide and drill the holes to the following depths For 115 mm walls half brick thick the holes should be 100mm deep 230mm walls 1 brick thick the holes should be 210mm deep 345mm wall should have 320mm deep holes 460mm walls should have 430mm deep holes The DPC cream that you use will have detailed instructions which you should follow. These should include information about the depth to which the chemical damp proof should be injected, but if not the above guidelines will suffice.
